A haven of high quality watchmaking, the Vallée de Joux is situated in a picturesque region where Romain Gauthier's passion for top quality watchmaking was developed.

A passion that carried Romain Gauthier through six years of work, from calculations to research and development, not forgetting the manufacturing of parts for his first self-made Calibre 2206Hm.

It was in 2005 that Romain Gauthier finally launched his own brand that in just a few years became a full-fledged Manufacture, specialised in the production of collectors' watches, offering an exceptional level of quality.

All the stages of watch production are carried out within the Manufacture: from the design of the movements to the production of parts, as well as finishing, assembly and testing of watches.

Each watch is assembled and decorated by hand in keeping with the purest watchmaking traditions.

The "Prestige Collection" is aimed at collectors and lovers of the art of watchmaking who wish to own a top quality timepiece. Available in four editions of 38 each. There are also 8 diamond encrusted versions of each edition.

This high-tech and innovative manufacturer has used its skills in order to make the first automatic cufflinks in the world!

Through these automatic cufflinks, Romain Gauthier expresses his philosophy and his desire to create innovative and original products used in new ways that make them both more pleasant and more technically attractive.

The exclusive pushbutton system allows the user to easily control the locking and unlocking of the cufflinks.
